

TODAY IS NATIONAL THRIFT DAY

Today is National Thrift Day and the week following has been proclaimed National Thrift Week.

As a nation we are learning the lesson of Thrift and finding it well worth while.

The first steps in this direction necessarily were acquired in the hard school of war. Increasing prices were not always met by increasing wages. The gap between income and expenditure had to be bridged. Sacrifice or save became the rule which many thousands still follow today.

This change of the individual's viewpoint has been gradual and therefore the more permanent. Instead of living up to the last penny earned, more and more Americans are thriftily putting their surplus pennies to profitable use. Ways and means have been found to avoid waste and extravagance, to save food, clothing and other necessities as well as the all-important money itself. Thrift, which has too long been regarded as something mean and niggardly, is now held in high esteem throughout the country.

The annual celebration of National Thrift Day has played a large part in bringing about this new attitude. It has made thrift easy to practice by providing a day when hundreds of thousands of people think and act Thrift. "A new thrift habit" is the rule on Thrift Day. The habit need not be the saving of actual money. The essential thing is that some saving practise be begun, though, of course, many prefer to open or add to a Bank Account.

The benefits of Thrift are self-evident. To save is to have. Whether it be nickels or seconds or units of energy, the saver is obviously the creditor, not the debtor—a person who has made provision for future emergencies.

Americans in greater numbers than ever before will observe Thrift Day by instituting new habits of thrift. Thrift, indeed, is not merely service of self; it is service to the country—a form of patriotism in which every citizen can indulge.

LOOKING FOR TRACE OF HER BROTHER

Postmaster Metcalfe received the following letter this week. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the gentleman mentioned is asked to communicate with the postmaster.

Postmaster,
Kingman, Arizona.

Dear Sir:
I am sending a letter addressed to my brother Fred W. Craig to Kingman. We have written several times, but the letters came back. Please hold this one twenty days. In the meantime will you please be kind enough to have some one make inquiries about him. Mother is 82 and getting quite feeble, and she worries about him. He may be working around home hotel or restaurant, or on some ranch, if he is still there. I will appreciate very much if you can help us hear from him.

Fred W. Craig, age 50 a small man, light hair, blue eyes, nervous, not very strong, no teeth. Subject to bronchial trouble. Works at anything he can get to do, but is better at housework on account of an impediment in his speech during boyhood. He has a very limited education, reads and writes a little.

I would rather not have all this published, but am afraid he may be hard up, or sick.

I do not wish to put you to any trouble, but as I do not know anyone there, thought you would know someone who could attend to it for me.

Mother is in Long Beach, California, but send reply to me here, as I don't want to worry her.

Hold the letter twenty days for if he is on a ranch, he might not send for mail very often.

Thanking you for any help you may give me, I am

Respectfully,
Mrs. J. O. Lane,

Box 793.
Tucumaci, New Mexico.

PLEASE BE NICE TO CENSUS TAKER ASKS UNCLE SAM

The fourteenth and most complete decennial census ever before taken in the United States is being taken this month. Over 300 Arizona census enumerators are now busy compiling the national count. Each census taker must turn in a complete daily report which will comprise the number of minutes he worked during the day and the number of people listed.

The census enumerators will carry identification cards as well as written commissions. These will be shown promptly by the enumerators on the request of any person.

Under the act of congress providing for the census, no persons may refuse to answer fully and accurately all the enumerator's questions, and the keepers of hotels, apartment houses and other places of lodging must assist the enumerator in getting the information concerning the persons living in such hotels and houses. Arizona has been divided into two districts of seven counties each for enumeration. Kingman is included in the northern district, of which Ray B. Leach is supervisor.

Miss Phyllis Smith is enumerator for Kingman.

OFF FOR THE NAVY

Elmer Otis Lambert enlisted from this county for the Navy and was sent to the training station at San Francisco, Cal. To await class that is being formed off the Aviation Mechanics School.

A letter from Lambert states that he likes the Navy fine and that he is going to advance in rating next month. Lambert who is from the Big Sandy states that the deep blue sea has one more worshipper.

A man who does not advertise may know his own business, but no one else does.

A story of magic and music, a drama of the emotions of the world. He had full hopes and empty pockets. But struggling against the tides of Destiny. Magnificent scenes inside the world's greatest opera house. A peep into the dressing rooms of the song birds that entertain New York's 400. A smashing climax. Also Orpheum Vaudeville in Movies.

A thrilling gypsy story in which Gladys Brockwell plays the leading role. Like a tigress she fought to free her name from stain and win back her lover, the battle to death with the foe who sought her ruin in insane jealousy and brings him to his knees. She feared no man; and loved only one. Also Mutt & Jeff in their pranks and the Ford Educational.

Here we have a special directed by Maurice Turner of "The Whirl" fame. This picture has been highly praised by the Press in the United States, which assures an excellent entertainment. A thrilling Drury Lane melodrama with astounding scenes and wonderful photography, with a story full of excitement and heart interest. A guaranteed good show. Also a 2 part slapstick comedy.

A thrilling murder mystery story, one that will make you grip your seat with anxiety, full of suspense. Who was the guilty person? A worthless, dissolute fellow knew the secret that would throw a vampire behind the bars of the law, and he wielded the club well, for his silence. A musical comedy queen paid the highest price that a man could exact. Also a Strand comedy.

Here we have an exceptionally good picture with Marguerite Clark in the leading role. She didn't like the man! They were such impudent, conceited things and if one of them ever—Then one night a mere man, pursued by another woman's husband, fled right into her apartment! What did she do? Well, you'll have to come and see. A fine comedy drama with amny funny situations. Also a slapstick comedy.

Little he knows where those wagon tracks would lead. But some one had slain his brother, and grimly he followed trail to vengeance—to death—to love. A picture big with the West, strong with the power of the man's man, who plays it. The picture had a tremendous run at the California theater in Los Angeles and is the best Hart picture of the years contract. Also a slapstick comedy.

A smashing, thrilling, soul-stirring picture. One hundred dollars worth of thrills, smiles and tugs at your heart in this gripping romance of a girl love and sacrifice. For the sake of her brother's honor, she was scorned by a man's unholy love, scorned as a waif, branded as a thief. But when the reckoning day came—Hurray! Also another episode of the "Smashing Barriers."
